AT FORT MASON
CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

AT FORT MASON: CAMPAIGN UPDATE— $2.4 MILLION RAISED

The At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign is a two-year, $7.5 million fund-raising campaign to complete ten major renovations projects within the historic piers and buildings of Fort Mason Center. The ten projects will preserve this National Historic Landmark, and create new and refurbished spaces for the increasing cultural activity occurring here.

Five Bay Area foundations and one corporation have contributed the major lead gifts for Fort Mason's Capital Campaign.

In gifts ranging from $100,000 to $750,000, the six institutions have provided the funding for the renovation of Piers 2 and 3, including the creation of the new Bayfront Theater in Pier 2, the redesign and renovation of the World Music Showcase in Landmark Building C, and the overall landscaping and improvement of Fort Mason's open spaces.

The three highest gifts to the At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign have come from the Herbst Foundation ($750,000), the S. H. Cowell Foundation ($500,000), and the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation ($500,000).

The Herbst Foundation gift is designated for the complete renovation and improvement of the 30,000 square foot exhibition space in Pier 2. In making the contribution, Herbst Foundation President John Seigle said, "The Directors of the Herbst Foundation are very pleased to be a part of the major effort that is being undertaken to further expand the Fort Mason complex, so as to provide a wider variety of facilities for the use of the community."

Theater will become a much bigger part of Fort Mason's programming through the support of the S. H. Cowell Foundation. Their $500,000 contribution has been designated for the Campaign's Bayfront Theater project, a 400-seat multipurpose community theater. It will be constructed in the outer 13,500 square feet of Pier 2. Features will include a lobby facing the Bay, fully equipped stage, sound and lighting facilities, a set construction shop, management offices, rehearsal studios, and storage rooms. Max Thelen, President of the S. H. Cowell Foundation, has said of this project, "There is a pressing need in San Francisco for a first-class small theater, and the Bayfront Theater will fill that need beautifully."

Capital Campaign Honorary Chair Mayor Dianne Feinstein with Co-Chairs Jerrold L. Kingsley and Myron Du Bain.

The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation has also pledged $500,000 to the At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign. These funds will be applied to the Festival Pavilion project, which calls for dramatic improvements in Pier 3, Fort Mason's largest indoor exhibition space at 70,000 square feet. Under the Capital Campaign plan, the Pavilion will feature extraordinary staging and exhibition facilities for large-scale events that will attract up to 5,000 people at a time. Events such as the Pacific States Craftfair will find a completely refurbished and improved home in the Festival Pavilion.

Major contributors to the Capital Campaign also include The Columbia Foundation, which has designated a $250,000 contribution toward the World Music Showcase project, and The William G. Irwin Charity Foundation, which has provided $200,000 in funding to complement the Herbst Foundation gift toward the Pier 2 exhibition facility. The World Music Showcase, a 250-seat theater in Landmark Building C, will provide a much improved and greatly needed home for the presentation of international music concerts, dance programs, and special performances.

First Nationwide Savings has demonstrated leadership in the corporate community through their early participation in the Campaign with a $100,000 gift, earmarked for the Open Spaces project. This will be the most readily visible improvement, landscaping and upgrading the grounds at Fort Mason with benches, sculpture, and directory signage. In presenting the gift, First Nationwide's Chairman Anthony Frank said, "Fort Mason is a National Historic Landmark, valuable for its role in our past, and it is also a living cultural center, making new history every day. The Capital Campaign points to an exciting future for Fort Mason."

At present, Fort Mason is in the design planning stage on most of these projects. At a reception last month hosted by Mayor Dianne Feinstein, Honorary Chair of the Capital Campaign, these major donors were honored and presented with "Fort of the Future" awards.

The Mayor also acknowledged the Campaign Committee, most notably Co-Chairs Myron Du Bain and Jerrold L. Kingsley, for their excellent work on behalf of the Campaign. The At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign Committee is an 18-member body comprised of civic and business leaders distinguished by their service to the community. Members of the Committee include Norman Scott, Vice-Chair, Harold Ellis, Jr., William D. Evers, Anthony Frank, Esther Fuller, Richard Goldman, Ruth S. Kadish, Sanford Lowengart, Charlotte Mailliard, Blair Pascoe, Helen Barker Pascoe, Elizabeth Spencer Pfau, Brooks Walker, Jr., Norman V. Wechsler, and Osamu Yamada.

SF BLUES FESTIVAL

Where is the oldest ongoing blues festival in the United States held? The answer to this trivia question is not Chicago or Mississippi as one might expect. Nor is it Louisiana or Texas, where many of the blues "greats" hail from.

For 13 consecutive years, it's been the city of San Francisco that has played host to a remarkable lineup of the country's top blues artists. This month, the tradition continues as the 14th Annual San Francisco Blues Festival returns to the magnificent outdoor setting of Fort Mason's Great Meadow. This spectacular event is one of the most anticipated and critically acclaimed summer music festivals in the country, and has earned a reputation for excellence among blues lovers worldwide.

This year's program reads like a history book of the blues, featuring legendary masters as well as up and coming artists performing a wide variety of regional blues styles. Saturday's show will feature guitar hero Roy Buchanan, known equally well to both rock and blues fans, and America's only blues-reggae ensemble, Big Daddy Kinsey and the Kinsey Report, featuring guitarist Donald Kinsey of Bob Marley fame. Headlining Sunday's show will be blues guitar legend Albert King, plus blues-soul queen and singer extraordinaire, Etta James, and the great harmonica-guitar duo of Jr. Wells and Buddy Guy, with the Bay Area's own Carlos Santana as their special guest.

Carlos Santana

Other performers rounding out this two-day event include Rockin' Dopsie and his Zydeco Twisters; the Jimmy Johnson Band; Johnny Adams with Joe Louis Walker and the Boss Talkers; Jesse Mae Hemphill; Paris Slim and his Continental Rockers; The Paladins; Sarah Livingston; the Dynatones, with Sir Mack Rice; R. L. Burnside; and from San Francisco, Mitch Woods and his Rocket 88's.

Besides the best in blues and the unmatched view of San Francisco Bay from the Great Meadow, there will also be a superb array of foods, from stands dishing up New Orleans and Louisiana cuisine.

The 14th Annual San Francisco Blues Festival takes place from Noon until 6pm, Saturday and Sunday, September 13 and 14. The price is $9 in advance, $10 the day of the show, and $15 for a special two-day ticket (available in advance only). Tickets are available at all BASS outlets, or may be charged over the phone by calling 762-BASS. For more information about the Festival, call 826-6837.

SF FAIR & EXPO

San Francisco's county fair brings a wide variety of delights to Fort Mason Center this month.

Rhythm and blues hits and big band favorites are presented by Pride & Joy and Swing Fever. Pride & Joy, a Motown Soul Review, performs rhythm and blues numbers, appealing to all ages with their nostalgic '60's sound. Swing Fever and Jimmy Diamond and his Orchestra present the best jazz and swing music of the '30's and 40's, popular tunes by Ellington, Basie, Goodman and Dorsey. TRPTS, or Trumpets, explores the exciting and varied history of the jazz trumpet in America.

Ethnic music and dance add spice to this year's Fair. Escola Nova De Samba, accompanied by The Brasilian Beat, creates the infectious joy of carnival time in Rio with lively samba dance and music. A nine-piece Afro-Cuban ensemble, Conjunto Cespedes, performs danceable original compositions, combining poems with music to produce a rhythm that makes feet tap. Kwaku Daddy, an African master drummer, entertains with his battery of percussion instruments including the tumba, jimbe, and atompa, all native African drums.

Comedians performing at the urban Fair are lively, spirited, and full of mischief. Tom Ammiano entertains on the Cabaret By The Bay stage, with his quick mind and storehouse of zingers. Ammiano contorts reality, reshapes it, then makes the revision seem credible and hilarious. Gary Lapow is a relaxed and witty children's entertainer. He incorporates children in the audience into his performances, much to their delight. He's animated and energetic, and his music—ranging from bluegrass to salsa—makes kids feel good. His lyrics deal with ice cream eating, witch watching, and important things like friends and family. Fratelli Bologna delights audiences with a delectable selection of performances, from tasty to tasteless. Their zany antics parody everything from Camelot to Shakespeare to political theater.

Fog Calling Contest at the 5th Annual San Francisco Fair & Expo 9/4-7

When you've worked up an appetite from dancing and laughing, sample dishes from 25 of the city's best restaurants. Cafe Vera Cruz, a Tex-Mex restaurant, serves tamales, ceviche, salsa and guacamole. Pano's presents Gyros, with spicy lamb and beef, and tsitsiki sauce—yogurt, sour cream, cucumbers and garlic. California Cuisine is represented by Opts, serving mesquite-grilled shark, tuna, scallops, beef, sausage, chicken, and vegetable brochettes. Ryan's Cafe serves an assortment of fresh salads and sweet desserts. Annie's Outdoor Gourmet is back with last year's "Fairest Hot Dog" winner, the Chicago-style dog with relish, chopped onions, cheddar cheese, tomatoes, dill pickles, celery salt and mustard. And, to top it all off, Double Rainbow serves 16 flavors of ice cream in cups, cones, and walk-away sundaes.

The San Francisco Fair & Exposition takes place throughout Fort Mason Center from September 4 through 7. See listing inside under September 4. For information, call 392-FAIR.
